Description

This ground-floor apartment in Agios Athanasios is fully furnished and ready for immediate occupancy, with central air conditioning fitted throughout. The 55-square-meter interior holds one bedroom and one bathroom, laid out to be usable from the day you move in, without the wait or cost of furnishing it yourself. Pets not allowed.

Being on the ground floor means no stairs or lift between the front door and the street, a practical detail for moving furniture or simply carrying groceries in. The apartment sits close to a highway, useful for anyone driving regularly beyond the immediate area, and close to amenities, which keeps everyday errands within easy reach on foot.

Agios Athanasios is a residential district within the city of Limassol, on the southern coast of Cyprus. It is built up mainly with mid-rise apartment blocks alongside ground-floor shops and services, giving the area a dense, walkable character rather than a village feel. Its position within Limassol places it near the mix of retail, dining and everyday services that a district of this size typically carries, while its road connections make it straightforward to reach other parts of the city by car.
